Dear Mike: Is Ann-Margaret really going to marry Roger Smith? Is that why he got a divorce from Victoria Shaw in Mexico? — Jerry Reusch, Wesleyville, Pa.

Dear Jerry: She may make a liar out of me any day but Annie tells me it'll be "quite a while" before she becomes Mrs. Smith. You probably know that California divorces are not final until a year after the decree is entered, while Mexican divorces are valid in many states. However, the REAL reason is this: her parents didn't want her running around with a married man!

Dear Mr. C.: I read in your column that Hermione Baddley makes her entrance in Frank Sinatra's "Marriage on the Rocks" wearing kilts. No one wears kilts. They wear a kilt. "Kilts" is plural and since each kilt has eight yards of wool in it, wearing one at a time is enough. Also, a kilt is masculine attire and is not proper female dress. Of course, since women wear slacks, it is not surprising to find them taking over the kilt as well. — Yours eye, Ralph W. Phillips, Piper of the Kiltie Band of York, York, Pa.

Dear Ralph: Thank you for straightening me out. For a' that and a' that, the all-girl Hermione is going right ahead with her kilt caper.

Sir: I agree with the San Francisco columnist who said "Mary Poppins" is a bore. It was a shame to give the Oscar to Julie Andrews, with her scrubbed face that hasn't a trace of sex-appeal, charm or anything else—like Doris Day, whom I also loathe. Audrey Hepburn, the adorable, should have gotten it. But that's Hollywood politics. —Maida Carroll, San Francisco.

Dear Maida: You're fighting City Hall. "Poppins" is packing 'em in from Peoria to Pusanatwan — and Audrey's in good company with all the other non-Oscar biggies: Cary Grant, Rock Hudson, John Wayne, Gloria Swanson, Charlie Chaplin and all the other all-time greas who never got the Golden Nod, and that includes Hollywood's No. One moneymaking female, your own Doris Day.

Hello Mike: Poor Jean Harlow is really getting a rough deal, from what I hear. It's a shame she isn't here to defend herself. I'll bet she was a swell person. —Coke Dishong, Centerville, Ohio.

Dear Mike: I didn't know her but everybody in Hollywood who knew her loved her. I think it's a shame too but apparently it's a moneymaking shame for producers Bill Sargent and Joe Levine, from the looks of the advance bookings. They're so big, others are scrambling to produce the life stories of Lupe Velaz, Fatty Arbuckle, and other unfortunates.

Dear Mr. C.: I read that most of the singers on "Shindig" are not singing but using their records. Is this true? — Florence Larney, Azusa.

Dear Florence: Many musical TV shows are pre-recorded because some singers are unattractive, in closeups straining to hit those high notes. The late Mario Lanza was criticized for this but never by his hostess of a daily show originating in San Francisco.

"When were you first approached?" I asked. "Back in the Twenties I think it was. Either in Sandusky or Oil City, Okla. Vaudeville was a jungle in those days. 'God will protect us,' Mother would say, 'but just to make sure, carry a club'... Come to think of it — it was Sandusky."

Dear Virginia: John is taking a six-week vacation from the show — a much-needed rest. His wife, actress Charissa Hughes, died in June, 1963. It's not definite that he'll be back.

"Retirement is a pleasure! All my life I've been a daytime person living in a night-time world," said Gypsy Rose Lee, the intellectual stripper or stripping intellectual, if you prefer.

After having lunch with her one bright day last week, during which she chatted incessantly, I cannot imagine how she ever stopped talking long enough to do a striptease in the old night-time days.

"Well, good heavens, honey, I talked AND striped!" she explained. "As a matter of fact, I always considered my talk better than my strip, although I do remember one time in Stockholm when they didn't understand a word of English but they seemed to enjoy the show very much. If you know what I mean."

"MISS LEE is a singer, dancer, actress, novelist, playwright, art collector, and painter," said the publicity man. "And also a housewife."

"MANY times" commented Miss Lee. "I was a den mother too, once—until the other mothers found out."

Having been denied the pleasure of her company in her night-time years, it was good to catch up with this extraordinary dame in the daytime. She's a tall, blonde, dainty delight. She has the ability to laugh at herself, which more women should acquire whether they strip or not. Television has had the good sense to star her as the hostess of a daily show originating in San Francisco.

"When were you first approached?" I asked. "Back in the Twenties I think it was. Either in Sandusky or Oil City, Okla. Vaudeville was a jungle in those days. 'God will protect us,' Mother would say, 'but just to make sure, carry a club'... Come to think of it — it was Sandusky."

"NO, I MEAN when were you first approached to do the show?" I asked. "My manager made the decision but when I saw the marvelous dressing room they have fixed for me I knew it was going to be right for me," said Miss Lee.

"She can talk about anything," said her manager. She appeals to everyone. She will have a broad audience."

"WHAT!" she exclaimed. "Won't men be watching the show too?"

The name Gypsy Rose Lee was famous enough but after her best-selling autobiography was made into the musical "Gypsy" she became almost a show business legend along with her mother Rose who was the real star of the show as played by Ethel Merman on stage and Rosalind Russell in the film. Miss Lee's picture of Mother Rose was more flattering than that of her sister June Havoc in HER book, "Cry Havoc."

"We just have two different memories of mother—like when two people try to recall the scene of an accident!" Miss Lee once said. She wrote the book so her son would stop asking questions about her past.

MISS LEE lives in Los Angeles in what sounds like a 17-room zoo. "When I'm doing this show I'll have to get someone to feed the fish and the birds, three dogs, and a lizard. Also I'm awfully keen on peacocks, you know."

I wondered why—but not for long. "When they strut they spread their tail feathers and their topknot quivers just like a show girl's headdress when she's walking down the ramp," she said. "You watch one some time."

"I've been watching one all afternoon," I said.
